

Benefits for Practitioners

Develops lean knowledge & practical competence

- Motivates, rewards & fosters engagement
- Recognised university linked qualification
- Provides a progressive lean qualifications framework
- Free practitioner membership for continual learning & networking
- Offers a framework for professional development

Benefits for Organisations

Helps develop lean capability & continuous improvement culture

- It motivates employees to engage in continuous improvement.
- The accrediting process helps improve the design, integration and professionalism of your training system.
- It allows for rapid and cost effective scalability of CI staff competency, creating a large cohort of improvers that can generate substantial CI momentum.
- Your training system receives external endorsement from a respected institution.
- The LCS qualifications structure helps promote employees' professional development.
- It links your training with practical application, so directly benefiting business performance.
- It gives you a standard that you can apply throughout the organisation.
- It provides you with a flexible framework that can be adapted to suit the organisation's continuous improvement approach.
- LCS certification rewards and recognises employee effort and achievement.

